The Experience:

Chosen by National Geographic Traveler Magazine as one of the best 25 ecolodges in the world, Feynan Ecolodge is a destination like no other. Located at the western edge of Dana Biosphere Reserve, totally off-the-grid and 8 kilometers/5 miles from the closest paved road, Feynan offers of plethora of unique and authentic experiences in nature, adventure, culture, food and history while supporting the local community and maintaining a minimal environmental footprint.

The lodge contains 26 ensuite rooms, with electricity restricted to lighting the bathrooms, kitchen and offices. Otherwise, at night the lodge is lit by candles.

Electricity is solar generated, shower water is solar heating, waste is recycled and food waste is composted. Feynan offers an exclusively vegetarian menu.

Your stay at Feynan benefits 80 families/400 people from the local community around Dana Biosphere Reserve.

You will spend 3 days and 2 nights at Feynan sampling some of the experiences the lodge offers in nature adventure and culture including:

- Wadi Ghwayr canyon hike (level 4 vigorous)
- Local plants hike (level 3 moderate)
- Sunset hike (level 1 relaxed/social)
- Sunrise hike (level 3 moderate)
- Stargazing (level 1 relaxed/social)
- Bedouin experiences/cultural exchange (level 1 relaxed/social)

Itinerary:

Saturday, May 13:

Day one of your experience starts with an exciting adventure, hiking through one of the most beautiful wadis (canyons) in the Great Rift Valley, Wadi Ghwayr.

We depart Amman by 7:00 am sharp, arriving at the entrance of the canyon near the village of Mansoura in Shobak around 10:00 am. Our local Feynan eco-guide will meet us for the beginning of the 16 km/10-mile hike (6-8 hours). Our luggage is transferred by vehicle to the lodge.

Wadi Ghwayr features a stream winding through the gorge, lined with flowering pink oleanders, palm trees and acacias. At the bottom of the narrow canyon carved into the mountains by water over millennia, the siq floor passes under massive boulders and breathtaking rock formations. Depending on the rain and flash floods this winter, some pools may form which means that we will get wet and we may need to wade or swim across them! The hike will include several resting stops to take in the spectacular scenery, enjoy a packed lunch and drink a few cups of Bedouin tea. The hike ends at the lodge, where we can shower and rest before dinner. Later in the evening, join one of Feynan's guides on the rooftop terrace for a guided stargazing presentation using our powerful telescope.

Meals: lunch box, dinner

Sunday May 14:

Day two is more relaxed, and will include a two-hour hike to showcase the plants of the area and how the Bedouin used to use them in their-day-to-day lives. We visit goat-hair tented homes of the local community to learn some of their traditions, such as making coffee & arbood bread.

An hour and a half before sunset, we take a 20-minute stroll to an area overlooking Wadi Araba and the surrounding colorful Sharah Mountain range where we enjoy a cup of Bedouin tea and watch the setting sun.

After dinner, take the opportunity to relax on the rooftop terrace and stargaze.

Meals: breakfast, lunch, dinner

Monday May 15:

Day three starts with a challenging two-hour sunrise hike. After breakfast, there is time to relax around the lodge or do a short self-guided hike. At 11:00 am, we depart Feynan for the 2 ½ hour drive to the Kempinski Hotel Ishtar Dead Sea, the location of AdventureNEXT. Meals: breakfast, lunch box

What's included:

Your adventure at Feynan is all inclusive of:

- Single occupancy accommodation (Double occupancy for couples)
- All food and drink (water, fresh juices, coffee and tea)

Weather:

Spring (March – May) is the most popular time of year to visit Feynan and there's good reason! The days are warm, but not too hot and the rains from the winter mean there are green plants scattering the areas and pink oleanders in full bloom making spring a beautiful time for hiking. In May, the days are typically around the mid high 20s and low 30s (Celsius) (70s-mid-80sF), but the nights are cooler and once the sun goes down, you might need a light jacket outside in the evening.
